

TO BE IN HOSPITAL 10 DAYS

De Gaulle Operated On Successfully

PARIS (UPI) — President Charles de Gaulle today underwent a prostate gland operation.

The urinary tract surgery on the 73-year-old president took place at the Cochin Hospital in Paris this morning, and afterwards De Gaulle's condition was reported "very satisfactory."

Madame De Gaulle was reported to have been with the president since he entered the hospital Thursday night shortly after the broadcast of a pre-recorded radio and television speech he made to the nation.

In the broadcast De Gaulle said France must build its own nuclear force and not depend upon "uncertain" protection from the United States.

PRESIDENT DE GAULLE

An official announcement was expected later today — possibly after De Gaulle himself has approved it.

Prostatic gland trouble is a common ailment in men De Gaulle's age. Former British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan underwent such an operation last fall and now has fully recovered. The late General of the Army Douglas MacArthur also had suffered from prostate trouble in recent years.

The operation on De Gaulle apparently was successful, and the various agencies said it was expected he would remain in the hospital for about 10 days.

Chaos Possible

France could be in for political chaos if De Gaulle passed from the scene suddenly. He has united the country around his somewhat mystical approach to a restoration of French "grandeur," and has effectively muzzled his opposition. But he has resolutely refused to name or indicate anyone he might favor as successor, a situation that could set off a major political scramble and possibly return France to the instability of the Fourth Republic in which governments rose and fell in dizzying succession.

WON'T RAISE TAXES

Top Pay OK'd For Twp. Teachers

By SCOOP LEWIS
Courier-Times Staff Writer

Bristol Township's 507 teachers will be the highest paid in Bucks County next school year.

This became a reality last night when the township school board adopted a new salary schedule calling for a minimum of $5,100 annually and a maximum of $9,900.

The new salary schedule will mean an average increase of $800 for the teachers — the highest in the county.

Same Tax Rate

The cost of the salary schedule, to become effective this September, will be $489,400. However, as pointed out by Dr. Martin Rawdin, board president, the increases will mean no tax rise for Bristol Township homeowners.

Dr. Rawdin said that the raises can be made without increasing the real estate tax rate (which is 74 mills) due to additional state subsidies received by the school district this year and added revenue coming in next school year from the Pennsylvania Department of Public Instruction.

2-Year Period

Raises for the teachers will range from $300 to $1,800 by September. The fact that Bristol Township's salary schedule will be put into effect in one year will make the district the highest paid in 1964-65.

Other districts in the county, while having a high maximum (like Pennsbury's $10,782 and Neshaun's $10,000), are spreading their increases over a two-year period.

150 Applaud

The board approved the salary schedule at last night's meeting in Benjamin Franklin Junior High School. When the last of eight "aye" votes was cast, the board's decision was roundly applauded by some 150 teachers in the audience. One board member, Mrs. Angela Blatt, was absent.

Stanley A. Aagaard, chairman of the Bristol Township Teachers' Association salary committee, thanked the board for its decision.

The BTTA had submitted a salary schedule request with a $5,000 minimum and $10,300 maximum after 15 years for a teacher having a masters degree, plus 60 graduate hours or a doctorate. This plan would have cost the township $527,100 or about $38,000 more than the schedule adopted last night.

Better Qualified

The new salary schedule has dropped the number of pay steps for teachers with backgrounds before they attain their maximum of $9,100. Under the present schedule, the same teachers would have reached a maximum of only $7,500 after 13 years.

Dr. Robert P. Martin, district superintendent, said the new salary schedule will enable Bristol Township to secure better qualified new teachers, and at the same time, keep its experienced teachers with fewer steps to their maximum.

Crash Kills Croydon Man

A Croydon man was dead on arrival at Nazareth Hospital, Philadelphia, at 7:25 this morning after his foreign car struck a PTC utility pole.

Philadelphia police of the seventh district identified the victim as Fred S. Gargani, 50, of 1315 Dickson Ave., Croydon.

Police were unable to determine immediately how the accident happened. They said Gargani was driving a 1963 Renault and was apparently on his way to work when the accident occurred at Frankford and Convent Aves. at 7 a.m.

Gargani was employed as a leather worker for the Fairmount Park Guard.

He is survived by his wife, Freda; two daughters, Mrs. Joan McClintic of Ocean Gate, N. J., and Mrs. Rose Marie Shultz of Levittown; and several brothers and sisters.

Calls Them 'Cowardly, Brutal'

Judge Raps, Jails Two 'Auto Muggers'

Describing their crime as "cowardly and brutal," Bucks County Judge Lawrence A. Monro today sentenced two Philadelphia men, each to from three to 24 months in Bucks County Prison for the automobile mugging of two Croydon men in Bristol township last August.

"I have no sympathy for you," the judge said, before sentencing John P. Thomas, 24, of 12036 Stevens Road, and William L. Eckels, 23, of 7248 Bradford St., "and there is no assurance that you'll get out of prison in three months."

Convicted In March

The pair was convicted March 26 by a Bucks jury for assaulting Robert Deal, 19, and his brother, Paul Deal, 34, of 1102 Third Ave.

The Deal brothers, were driving along Route 13 near Edgely Ave. on August 17 when two cars bearing six men forced their auto to stop. The brothers were kicked and beaten and the younger Deal was hospitalized 11 days after being struck over the eye with a Boy Scout hatchet. Their car was also smashed by rocks thrown by the assailants.

'As Example'

Defense attorney Norvin Nathan of Levittown asked the court for leniency, but Assistant District Attorney William Eastburn asked that the pair be sentenced "as an example."

Eastburn said, "Automobile muggings are becoming more prevalent in the Lower Bucks and they must be stopped."

Usually the district attorney makes no statement prior to sentencing, Eastburn said, but the D.A. William J. Carlin felt so strongly about the "viciousness of the crime," that an exception was made in this case.

Eastburn told the judge that Thomas and Eckels went so far as to "challenge a police car in Bristol Township" the night after they attacked the brothers.

More Muggings

It was that incident which resulted in their apprehension and eventual arrest on the mugging charges.

Judge Monroe said, "I have been a resident of this county for many years, but it has only been in the past couple of years that we have been getting these automobile muggings from Philadelphia."

At Liberty Bell

3 Face Hearing On Horse Doping

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — A state Harness Commission hearing will be held tomorrow for three drivers suspended for alleged doping of horses at Liberty Bell Park.

Herbert Fogel, Commission counsel, said the three men were suspended late Thursday on the basis of medical tests. He identified the drivers as Charles Fitzpatrick, Warwick Downs, R.I.; Lucien Fontaine, Pte. aux Trembles, Can.; and John Bedell, Hicksville, N.Y.

The suspensions were imposed Fogel said, following routine tests of horses driven by the men Wednesday night. He said there was "sufficient evidence" of illegal stimulations being given horses in violation of state law to justify the suspensions.

Fontaine drove two winners Wednesday, and Fitzpatrick drove one.

"The men were suspended temporarily in the interests of racing," Fogel said. "They will be given an opportunity to present evidence and defend themselves at the Harness Commission hearing at the track on Saturday afternoon."

Object Rips Through Car Windshield

Water-Filled Plastic Bag Injures Woman

A Levittown woman was to undergo eye surgery today after she was injured when a water-filled plastic bag was hurled through her car's windshield last night and she was struck with flying glass.

Mrs. Joan Larkin, 41, of 915 Upper Orchard Drive, was reported in "good" condition awaiting surgery in Lower Bucks County Hospital. She had lacerations to both the forehead and eyes. She was a passenger in the car.

Her husband, John, who was driving, and her 16-year-old daughter, Barbara, were uninjured.

Middletown Township police said the bag apparently was flung from the Parkland Railroad Station as the car traveled on Route 1. The station platform is about 20 feet above the road bed.

Police said no other incidences of the kind have been reported. Officer Raymond Hubbert investigated the incident, which occurred at 8:14 p.m.

Mrs. Larkin was taken to the hospital by the Pennell-Middletown Emergency Squad.

After Request Turned Down

Farmers To Appeal For Lower Assessments

The Bucks County Farmers Association has said it will fight a decision of the Bucks County Board of Assessment refusing to cut the assessment of farmland along public roads.

J. Earl Yerkes Jr., president of the association, said the only alternative is to introduce a bill in the state legislature giving farmers an assessment break.

The board of assessment recently rejected the farmers' appeal to have their assessments lowered. The rejection followed a meeting of the board with the county commissioners, the county solicitor, and the farmers' association.

The position of the farmers,

Yerkes said, is that farmland along highways does not produce any more crops than land not along the road. He said farmers should be taxed solely on the bases of acreage, home site and buildings, and not on the running-foot as is done with farmland along roads.

Spring Busts Out All Over

A beautiful weekend with spring bustin' out all over.

That's the word from the weatherman and he's doing a good job of it already.

Sunny skies sent the thermometer up to 75 degrees at 3 p.m. today with the high expected around 77. The day's record is 83 set on April 17, 1941.

A new record may be set tomorrow when temperatures are expected to soar into the 80s. The thermometer hit 81 on April 1 last year for the mark.

Sunday's outlook is for more of the same with fair skies and temperatures in the 80s.

In rejecting the association's appeal, the board said if the present method was a fair and equitable way of arriving else would be seeking to apply at assessment figures.

Democratic Statewide Registration Lead Dips To 12,000

HARRISBURG (UPI) — The Democratic statewide registration lead has shrunk to a mere 12,000.

Complete but unofficial figures compiled from the state elections bureau and county courthouses show the Republicans chopped nearly 71,000 off the Democratic lead between Nov. 5, 1963, general election and the March 9 close of the spring registration period.

The latest figures thus continued the steady slide in Democratic registrations since November 1962, when the party piled up an advantage of 196,000 but lost the state House to

Gov. William W. Scranton by nearly a half million votes.

For the April 28 primary, the Democrats will have 2,645,443 and the GOP 2,642,288, a difference of 12,155. Total voters on the rolls, concluding independents and splinter party members, is 5,364,931.

The decline in Democratic fortunes is attributed to Republican state control along with GOP registration efforts and a consequent sputtering of Democratic enrollment efforts. In addition, "purges" of election rolls by county officials followed the municipal elections and took voters from both parties.

Actually both parties have lost strength over the past six months with Democrats suffering the worst. Democratic rolls have dwindled by 85,000, compared with 14,000 for the GOP. Total voters are down 102,000 from the municipal elections.

The purges clean from the voter rolls persons who have died, moved or failed to re-register after not voting in two elections.

Democrats hold registration edges in 19 counties, one less than last fall. The switchover is Lehigh County, where Republicans now are on top by 180 votes. The county went into the Democratic column a few years ago, but neither party has enjoyed much of a registration margin there.

Philadelphia gives the Democrats a 215,000 edge, the largest countywide margin for either party. Allegheny County has the Democrats on top by 206,000.

Key Republican counties are Delaware, with a 157,000 GOP advantage, and Montgomery, 124,000 in the party's favor.

One irony of recent statistics is that the Democrats have made their worst showings at the polls when the registration margin was most in their favor. On the other hand, their best recent results have come in the face of registration deficits or tiny leads.

Khrushchev Talks On 70th Birthday

Russia Won't Break Off Relations With Red China

MOSCOW (UPI) — Premier Nikita Khrushchev warmed by an outpouring of tributes and honors on his 70th birthday, said today the Soviet Union will not "break off relations" with Communist China.

Surrounded by old comrades and his closest East European allies at a Kremlin ceremony honoring him, Khrushchev said the "disruptive activities" of his Chinese rivals "will suffer a failure because they have no foundation in life."

Without directly naming the Chinese, he said "what we shall do is not to plume ourselves on our successes but to fight and go ahead, not to break off relations with those with whom we have no full unity now, but always leave an opportunity for a rapprochement and understanding."

But Khrushchev warned, "this must not be achieved through concessions of principle but through a correct explanation and interpretation of the Marxist-Leninist teaching." The Soviets, he said "have always adhered and will continue to adhere to Marxist-Leninist positions."

His remarks at the ceremony, belatedly reported by the Soviet news agency Tass, were surprisingly conciliatory compared with his violent attack two days ago on chairman Mao Tse Tung and his fellow Chinese leaders.

At the same ceremony, Khrushchev said he has "not so much time" left but indicated he does not plan to retire.

"I have worked hard in the past and I am working just as

A pensive Nikita Khrushchev displays two new honors, the Order of Lenin and the Gold Medal of the Hero of the Soviet Union, on his 70th birthday, much now. "You should not give up in your old age—don't submit to old age."

Khrushchev received congratulations by cable from President Johnson and other world leaders, including his bitter Communist rival, Chinese party leader Mao Tse-tung. At the reception, he was given the personal good wishes of his own lieutenants and Soviet bloc leaders.

A late arrival from Romania, Premier Ion Maurer, made the celebration complete. Diplomats had speculated that Romania, which has showed an increasingly independent role, was planning to boycott the celebration to avoid taking sides in the Moscow-Peking fight.

Khrushchev, obviously moved by the birthday greetings, told the Kremlin reception audience:

"When a man is already 70 years old, if you give him big advances, you may not get what you have paid for—for your advance—because the man has not got so much time to make good payment for what he is being given on his jubilee today."

Applause broke out in the Kremlin chamber.

Khrushchev began the day by receiving his top colleagues, President Leonid Brezhnev, First Deputy Premiers Anastas Mikoyan and Alexei Kosygin, Presidium member Nikolai Podgorny, and party theoretician Mikhail Suslov. They wished him "good health, cheerfulness, and many years of life."

The Soviet press was full of similar sentiments, but it coupled them with continuing attacks on Communist China, and it was believed that Khrushchev was using his birthday gathering of Soviet bloc leaders to plot strategy against Peking as well as accept congratulations.

U.S. Votes Funds For Death Ray

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Appropriations Committee, holding U.S. missiles dependable and ready to go, voted funds today to press work on the next generation of "ultimate" weapons, including a possible death ray.

At the same time, the committee agreed with Air Force arguments that the manned bomber deserved one final fling. It appropriated $52 million for design of a plane to replace aging B52s and B58s—a project for which President Johnson had asked only $5 million.

On the basis of heavily censored testimony by top scientists and military experts the committee said the death ray—a science fiction favorite for more than a decade—"might evolve" from current secret research on Laser light beams.

Lists Many Weapons

Among other possibilities as the strategic successor to the nuclear-tipped intercontinental ballistic missile (ICBM) the committee cited chemical or biological agents that could incapacitate without killing; weapons platforms orbiting in space, and orbiting H-bombs which could be routed to targets on command from the earth.

The committee made its comments in recommending to the House a $46.7 billion defense money bill geared to continued predominance in nuclear weapons available for delivery both by manned aircraft and missile.

It said the number of nuclear weapons in alert condition had been increased by 2½ times in the past three years and said total destructive power—megatonnage—of these weapons in that period had had been tripled.

Margin Of Strength

Stepping squarely into the controversy over the alleged unavailability of missiles and a possible decline in the U. S. power edge over Russia, the committee said it agreed with Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara that the missile force "can be depended on" and said testimony of all top defense officials was that this country retains its margin of strength.

In a report to the House prepared by Rep. George H. Mahon, D-Tex., the committee said existing manned bombers will be around for many years yet; that missiles, though subject to continued improvement, are firmly established, and that the big question now is "what next?"

Reverses Bucks Ruling

State Superior Court Declares Gambling Raid In Twp. Legal

A state police gambling raid on a house in Bristol Township in 1962 has been declared legal by the state Superior Court in a decision reversing a ruling of the Bucks County Court.

The man arrested in that raid, James E. Christy, had challenged its validity on the grounds that the search warrant did not specify the gambling offenses for which he was arrested.

In its ruling the Superior Court said warrants in such cases did not have to provide a detailed list of offenses that police expected to uncover.

Christy's contention—that warrants must list specific offenses—was based on Section 59 of the Penal Code of 1860. But Superior Court Judge Harold L. Ervin, who wrote the opinion, said that section must be read in connection with Section 60 "which permits the seizure, such as was accomplished in this case, with or without a search warrant, and permits the arrest of persons, such as the defendant in this case, with or without a body warrant."

Judge Ervin also called attention to several Superior Court decisions that upheld the seizure of gambling devices without warrants.

Search Warrant

Christy was arrested on April 12, 1962 in a house on Bayard St., the same date that Sgt. Andrew J. Kutney of the Pennsylvania State Police obtained a search warrant from Justice of the Peace Charles E. Flaxman of Pennell.

The warrant was issued "for entry to search the premises in order to seize gambling devices and the body of the person or persons in whose possession said may be found."

Ruling Appealed

Shortly after his arrest, Christy filed a motion to quash the search warrant and have his arrest invalidated.

First Assistant District Attorney Ward F. Clark appealed the Bucks ruling—handed down by Judge Edwin H. Satterthwaite—to the Superior Court.

The Superior Court's 5-2 opinion was given in Pittsburgh with Justices G. Harold Watkins and Harry M. Montgomery agreeing with the lower court.

Will Leaves $6,100 To 4 Bucks Groups

Fred G. Maag, Middletown Township, who left an estate of $128,608.27, bequeathed $6,100 to four various Bucks County organizations.

According to his inventory, filed recently in the Bucks County Register of Wills Office, Maag died April 2, 1963 at the age of 63 years.

In his will, dated Feb. 1, 1950, he directed that the Bucks County Council of Boy Scouts should inherit $2,000. In a handwritten codicil, dated Aug. 29, 1957, he stipulated in a lead pencil notation that an additional bequest of $3,000 be given to the Bucks County Boy Scout Council, Doylestown, making the entire inheritance $5,000.

$100 To Troop

Maag gave $100 to Parkland Boy Scout Troop 62. He bequeathed $1,000 to the Parkland Heights Improvement Association. He gave $2,500 to St. Joseph Manor at Meadowbrook.

Olga R. Mathias, who was described as a faithful housekeeper, was given $200. Two sisters, Frances Moeller and Agnes B. Feeney, were bequeathed $500 and $100, respectively.

He gave $100 for the saying of masses for the repose of his soul and $10 to the Purgatorial Society of St. Peter's Catholic Church, Philadelphia.

Two godchildren, Joan Hessdorfer and Ann Hetrick, were each given $100.

He directed that residuary estate be used for the benefit of his sisters and other members of his family.

Battling Middletown Blaze

Firemen Escape Injury In Explosion

Fourteen firemen escaped injury yesterday when acetylene tanks exploded and started a second fire as they battled a blaze at Conduit and Foundation Corporation, Middletown Township.

Firemen from the Langhorne-Middletown and Parkland fire companies quickly extinguished the field fire ignited by the explosions, but fought in vain for three-and-a-half hours to save an old barn, which burned to the ground. Two air compressors and an office trailer were also destroyed. The total extent of damages has not been determined, a Conduit spokesman said.

Crane Saved

A tall crane standing six feet from the barn was saved from damage as the men poured on streams of water.

Bucks County Fire Marshall Fred Hibbs and Langhorne-Middletown Chief George Henry were to investigate the cause this afternoon.

Henry directed operations at the scene and called the Parkland company soon after his arrival. Three Langhorne-Middletown engines and two from Parkland, including a 3,300-gallon pumper, were there. There are no fire hydrants in the immediate area.

The corporation is located on Wood Lane near the Pennsylvania Railroad's Trenton cutoff. The spokesman said the barn was not used for "anything in particular," but supplies were often brought into the barn out of the rain. It was not a permanent storage area, he said.

The blaze was discovered about 1:20 p.m.

High school sports in Bristol Township are expected to bring in more revenue starting next year.

The reason: There'll be no more "freebies."

The school board, by a 6-2 vote on John Hess' motion, decreed no more free passes to athletic events, except for the press and radio, coaches and the Lower Bucks County League officials.

Hess said "the way the passes are handed out it looks like nobody pays to get in."

Robert Martin, district superintendent, told the board over 500 passes are issued to teachers and other employees in the township school system.

The new order, incidentally, cuts off free passes for the school directors too.

Raymond Evinski's sixth grade pupils at George Washington School, Levittown, scored another "hit" last night with the Bristol Township School Board. This time, they had a "big audience" as more than 100 teachers turned out for the meeting (if their salaries were to be increased).

The George Washington youngsters gave a report on their proposed camping trip, which met with great success last year. This year's trip is planned for May 25-28.

Presenting the report night were Pamela McClellan, Gerald Schwanke, Janet Jones, Pamela Demchick, Harry Artz and Donna Kahlen, all sixth graders.

A Bucks County and Buckingham Township landmark—Mechanicsville general store—is passing with the discontinuance of business and closing out of the emporium by John Armstrong Sr., next Tuesday and Wednesday.

The general store, located at the corner of Dorham Road and Mechanicsville Road, has been in existence since 1849.

Armstrong, who operated the general store for 18 years, said the equipment, merchandise such as groceries, hardware, paint, glass, garden tools, grass seed and many other articles, will be sold on Tuesday and Wednesday beginning at 6:30 p.m. by Brown Brothers, Doylestown auctioneers.

Dr. Martin Rawdin, president of the Bristol Township School Board, will soon be passing out the cigars as well as smoking them.

He and his wife, Myrna, are expecting their second child this fall. The news became public last night when the school board granted Mrs. Rawdin, a second grade teacher at George Washington School, Levittown, a year's maternity leave.

Dr. Rawdin, Levittown optometrist, is also a teacher in the Pennsylvania Schools. He and his wife and five-year-old son, Mark, reside at 399 Stonybrook Drive.

East Germans Work Past Wall Memorial

BERLIN (UPI) — East German border guards moving a section of the Berlin wall today worked their way past a cross erected by West Berliners to the memory of a slain East German youth, leaving the memorial unharmed.

Western police barricaded the area around the West Berlin side of the memorial last night to prevent possible rioting by West Berliners if the cross were touched, but no trouble developed. The Communists mustered heavy security forces on their side of the anti-refugee wall.

The Eastern guards moved some of the stones surrounding the cross, but these were on their side of the border line. The guards also cut a rope around the memorial on their side and pulled up stakes that held the rope. They then moved on down the line, working their way about 50 yards past the monument.

Sentence Delayed In Terrace Slaying

Two Bucks Judges deferred sentencing James B. Hand yesterday after hearing all-day testimony on his knife slaying of a woman companion in July, 1962 in Bristol Terrace.

President Judge Edward G. Biester said sentence would be pronounced after notes of testimony had been transcribed.

Earlier yesterday, Hand pleaded guilty to an open charge of murder. It is up to the court to determine the degree of guilt.

On the witness stand, Hand, a former laborer, said it was a fight over money that prompted him to stab Mrs. Margie Paulson, 47, in the back during the early morning hours of July 15 at Del's tavern.

Hand, 53, said that he had downed a fifth of whiskey that day and he had no clear recollection of the stabbing incident. He admitted that he realized later that he had "done wrong."

Following the stabbing Hand said he got an acquaintance to drive him to Burlington, N.J., then got another friend to drive him to Egg Harbor. He wasn't arrested until eight months later in California. Hand yesterday said he gave up willingly.

"I was tired running," he said.

Pipers Head For Mill St.

Member stores of the Mill St. Businessmen's Association, Bristol, will "go all-Scotch" tomorrow.

The MacGregor Pipe Band will play and parade from 10:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. And the "Grenadiers," a baton and twirling group, will be dressed in Scottish outfits and parade on Mill Street from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m.

Scotty caps will be available and booklets such as one called, "Make Your Own Scotch Whiskey," will be handed out by members of the Grenadiers.

Many stores along Mill Street will display Scottish posters.

Twp. To Air Reorganization

Bristol Township's school board will discuss Bucks County's new reorganization plan at a public meeting next Thursday night.

The board, by a 6-2 vote last night, defeated a move by director Charles J. McGrath to appeal the reorganization. He has been pushing for all Lower Bucks school districts to be combined into one giant district comprising about 50,000 students.

An 8-Year-Old Wins Science Fair Prizes

Priscilla Johns, 8, of Morrisville, proudly displays the science fair entry on plants which won for her a bagful of awards in the recent Greater Trenton Science Fair. Her entry won second prize in the elementary B Division (third and fourth graders) and a certificate of merit, besides several pocket books. Priscilla, a third grader at Capitol View School, is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. David Johns, 823 N. Pennsylvania Ave. The project's title, "Where Do Plants Come From?" The teacher: Mrs. Rae Bennett. She was the only winner from Morrisville and the first time anyone ever won from Morrisville. (Courier-Times Photo)

Couples Club Sets 'Moving' Dinner Fete

Couples in the Episcopal Church of the Incarnation, Morrisville, are looking forward to a "moving" dinner tomorrow, beginning with an appetizer prepared by the Leon Butterfosses and the George Woolleys at the Butterfoss home.

The entire group will then go to the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Pearson for the main course and to the Earl Murpheys for dessert and an evening of entertainment.

The Junior Choir will be one of 35 junior choirs from the Diocese of Pennsylvania to participate in the Diocesan Music Festival to be held on Sunday at St. Paul's Church, Chestnut Hill at 4:30 p.m.

Over 700 children are expected to participate under the direction of Robert Smart of Trinity Church in Swathmore. The annual festival is an inspirational service sponsored by the Commission of Music of the Diocese of Pennsylvania. The program will include four anthems: "My Faith, It Is an Oaken Staff" by Vigeland; "A Prayer of St. Richard of Chichester" by White; "O Saviour Sweet" by Bach; and "Alleluia to the Triune Majesty" by Warner. Mrs. Royce Haines, director of music at Incarnation, said that 16 children ranging in age from about 9 to 13 will represent the Morrisville church. The festival should prove to be an exciting experience for those who attend as well as those who participate, a spokesman said.

Talk Slated At Jaycees In Yardley

A talk entitled "The Big 'A' of Accomplishment" will be given to the Yardley - Lower Makefield Jaycees at the Yardley Inn on Tuesday at 8 p.m.

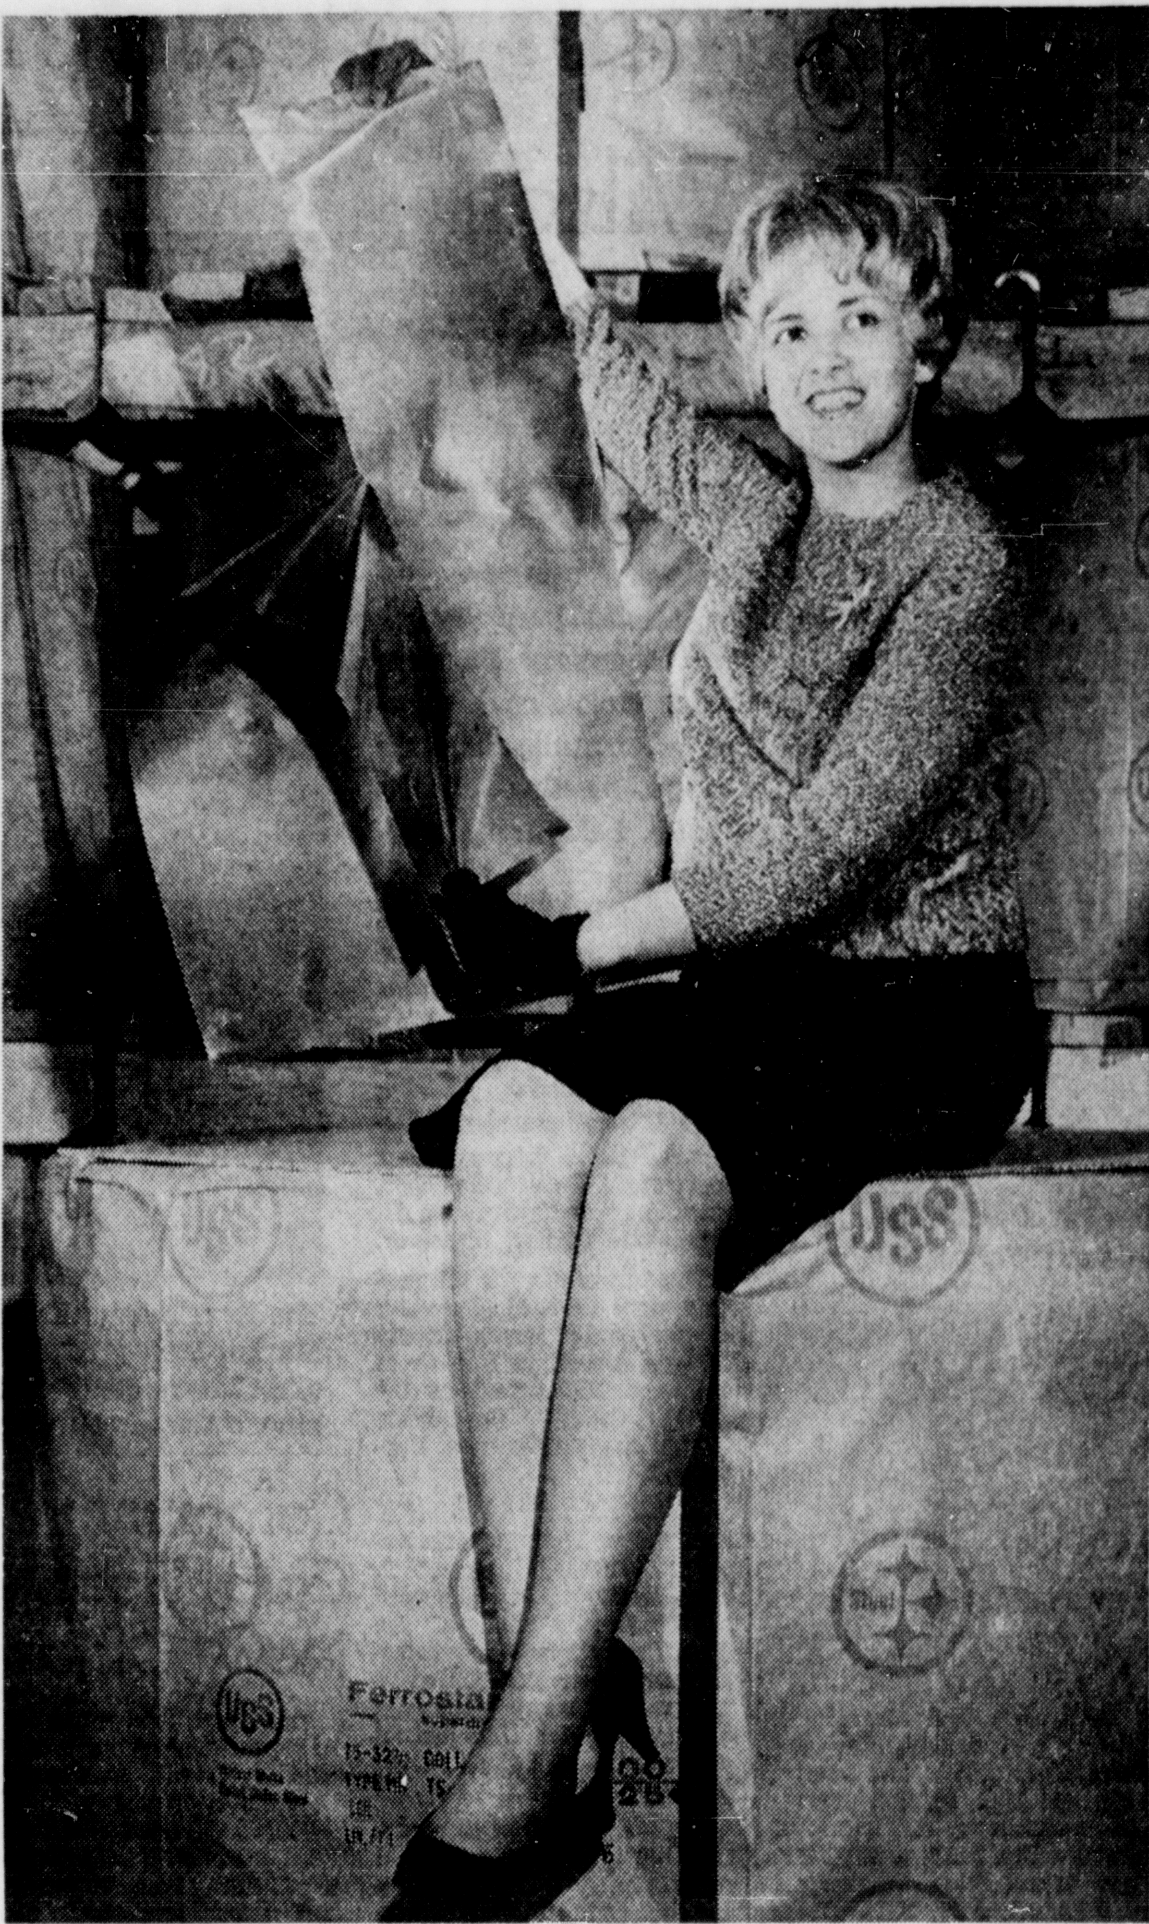

A spokesman said, this is a stirring, provocative and entertaining talk on the attitudes and actions of success using, among other visual aids, soda straws and potatoes.

The speaker will be Bob Sappenfield, sponsor in Philadelphia for the Leadership Institute. He has handled sales and management training for over 2,100 men and women in all types of businesses since he joined this organization in 1951.

Program sponsor Harry Casterlin will leave an A.M.A. conference in New York for the singular honor of introducing Mr. Sappenfield. For the Leadership Institute taught Casterlin the art of introductions and he is looking forward to repaying this debt to the guest speaker.

Special promotion folders will be handed out to the Jaycees on this same evening as Walt Whiteman, Jaycee park project chairman, makes a formal presentation to the township supervisors. This evening will climax the season before a new election of officers next May so each member will want to attend a most unique "send off," the spokesman added.

This New Foil Is A Steel!

Pretty Ann McIlvaine of 325 Harper Ave., Morrisville, an employee of U.S. Steel's Fairless Works, illustrates a feat that only a Hercules could have performed a few years ago—ripping steel in two. The steel sheet in Ann's hands is actually tin-plated steel foil, a new product from U.S. Steel which is thinner than many types of paper. The product, now commercially available, will be rolled at the Fairless Works plant here where Miss McIlvaine works in the Sheet and Tin Division.

3 Leaguers Will Attend Nat'l Confab

Mrs. Eugene Webster, president of the League of Women Voters of Newtown, and Mrs. Edgar Bromberg, president of the League of Women Voters of Yardley - Morrisville - Lower Makefield, will represent their leagues at the 26th national convention of the League of Women Voters of the United States next week in Pittsburgh.

Mrs. James Hiltner of the Women Voters of Yardley-Morrisville - Lower Makefield will attend as an observer. The confab runs from Monday to Friday.

Mrs. Webster, Mrs. Bromberg, and Mrs. Hiltner will be among the 1,500 delegates and guests expected to attend the Convention at the Pittsburgh Hilton.

Study Program

Main work of this convention will be choosing a 1964-66 national program of study and action and the election of new national officers and directors. A budget for the next fiscal year will also be adopted.

Mrs. Robert J. Phillips, St. Charles, Ill., national president of the League since 1958, will open the convention on Monday, at 1:30 p.m. on a "Room for More in '64" note. Primarily a working convention, general sessions are scheduled for morning and afternoon hours throughout the week.

Barbara Ward, author of a number of books, including "Faith and Freedom," "India and the West," and "The Rich Nations and the Poor Nations," will be honored guest and speaker at the Wednesday evening banquet. Ten years ago, she addressed the 21st national League Convention in Denver.

Wirtz to Speak

Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz will speak the final morning of Convention on Friday, on the citizens' role in relation to governmental problems of the day.

Delegates and guests attending the Monday evening, reception in honor of Mrs. Phillips, who will be leaving the national board at convention close, will at the same time have a chance to view the "Women in Politics" exhibit, prepared by Barnard College in connection with their 75th anniversary.

The exhibit, which comes to Pittsburgh from its Chicago opening last month and a week's booking in Indianapolis, is touring nationally under League auspices. It will be on display at the Pittsburgh Hilton during the entire convention.

Church Women

In Workshop

Two women members of the Episcopal Church of the Incarnation, Morrisville, Mrs. Leslie Williams and Mrs. Warren Bickersgill, will leave tomorrow to attend a vacation church school workshop at the Philadelphia Divinity School.

These women will be among other women in the diocese preparing to teach in vacation Bible schools this summer in their various churches. The workshop will provide training in administration, recruiting and selection of curriculum.

Vacation Church School at Incarnation is planned for two weeks, beginning on Monday, June 15.

Ouster Of 2 Teachers Asked

ENCINITAS, CALIF. (UPI) School trustees were asked earlier this week to oust San Dieguito High School English teachers because of literature they recommend for student reading.

Frederick Tudor, a non-denominational minister, and his wife demanded the firing of teachers Richard Walker and Juanita McKay, claiming the two are teaching "false precepts of English."

The preacher says he objects to the use of such works as the J. D. Salinger novel "Catcher in the Rye" and the Arthur Miller play "Death of A Salesman." He has a 17-year-old son, Alan, in Walker's class.

New Tennis Series Set In M'field

A series of tennis classes will begin Saturday at the Pennsbury High School courts in Lower Makefield, it was announced today by Earl Murphy, director of the Lower Makefield - Yardley Recreation Board.

The classes will be held for one hour each, starting at 10 a.m., and will continue for eight weeks every Saturday. The classes will be for both beginners and advanced students.

The instructor will be Miss Virginia Creed, who has had a wife background of teaching tennis both on the secondary and college level. Miss Creed formerly taught at Trenton State College.

The tennis classes are open to all residents of Yardley and Lower Makefield, Murphy said. There will be a small fee, part of which will be refunded for those who attend all eight classes, Murphy added.

Teenagers Canteen will be held tonight for 7th and 8th graders at Charles Boehm High School, from 7:30 p.m. until 10:30 p.m. The canteen will be under the direction of Ross Gray.

Car Hits Pole, Tree Truck-Then Lawn

A Morrisville youth last night struck a utility pole with his car, then hit a tree and ended up on a front lawn—after hitting a pickup truck parked in a driveway.

The youth, Harry Steele Jr., 18, of 825 Benton Lane, Grandview Estates, told Falls Township police his gas peddle got stuck and when he tried to free it he lost control of the wheel.

Steele and a passenger in his car, Maureen MacGilluray, 18, of 5 Iriquois Road, Indian Creek Levittown, were taken to Mercer Hospital, Trenton, by Falls police.

Fractured Nose
Miss MacGilluray was treated for a fractured nose and lacerations of the upper lip. Steele sustained bruises to his right leg. They were released after treatment.

The accident occurred at 9:15 p.m. at Corbin Lane, near Tyburn Road.

Also treated for bruises at Mercer Hospital and released was Mrs. Jerri Ginney, 40, of 26 Golden Gate Road, Goldenridge, Levittown.

Mrs. Ginney, according to Ewing N. J. Township police said she was driving along River Road in Trenton when a car "came out of nowhere and struck her." Police did not identify the driver of the other car, who suffered no injuries.

Should Church Building Become Council Chambers?

Two Morrisville council members inspect the old Presbyterian Church building on Union St. yesterday as a possible site of a borough hall. They are Councilwoman Mrs. Florence Krause and Council President Michael Demech. Several members of council and other borough officials made the inspection tour. The council is considering buying the property and converting it. The building was recently purchased at public auction by the Morrisville Bank. (Courier-Times Photo)

Morrisville Hootenanny

A hootenanny will be staged at Morrisville Methodist Church tomorrow during the sub-district meeting of the Methodist Youth Fellowship. The show starts at 8 p.m.

A spokesman said M.Y.F. members and their friends are invited to attend. Refreshments will be served. All persons taking part in the hootenanny will be admitted free. Otherwise, a small fee will be charged. The hootenanny ends at 10:30 p.m.

Lions To Hear Debate Team
